American Survival Kits DropshippingGetreadyGear Inc was started in 2005 by professional emergency responders Jim and Carol Serre based in California. GetreadyGear Inc is specialised in Survival Kits which are made to meet the end user's emergency needs. GetreadyGear Inc was a result of nearly 12 years of professional experience of the founders in the field of emergency response. They have several credentials in this field which includes the role of emergency response instructors for major emergency response organizations like the American Red Cross. The idea was developed to meet the end user needs as the survival kits in the market were manufactured by companies with no background or experience in the field of emergency relief. The kits come under various categories depending on the kind of emergency and include survival kits, tools, food, water, shelter, first aid, safety products, sanitation and lighting besides a few other new products. In order to enquire about dropshipping of these products one can contact the company through email, phone, fax and directly by ordinary post. The website has the company's physical address, telephone and fax numbers and email under the 'contact us' section. Those interested in dropshipping may approach the company through any of the above means. However, there was no exclusive section in the website which dealt with dropshipping.
