American Gaming Dropshipping BRE Software is a California based company which has been buying and selling used video games since 1989. BRE Software has been a pioneer in the used video game industry. Currently BRE Software is selling new and used video games and accessories for virtually all game systems as old as Atari 2600 to the current Nintendos and PSP's. The company also offers dropshipping services. Resellers need to fill the request form from the Wholesale section to subscribe and thus avail the dropshipping terms and conditions. This also helps the company send periodical information regarding dropshipping. Also a dropshipping section is available as well to register for the dropshipping program. Once done after payment of an initial fees, the benefits include wholesale rates for purchasing, better shipping rates and additional shipping methods. The website provides the address, phone and fax numbers, email id for customers to call or mail their enquiries. Besides they also have an online form for more pinpointed queries which will enable quicker response.
