Self-defense supplies drop shipper Safety Technology is an American self-defense and security supplies wholesale drop shipper based in Jacksonville in the state of Florida. The company was started by Michael Gravette, ex-Air Force Intelligence, in 1986 when he was inspired to resell stun guns that he bought for his flight attendant wife. Some of the products offered by Safety Technology are tasers, stun guns, pepper sprays, personal alarms, blow guns, security scanners, telescopic steel batons, animal repellents, drug detectors, slingshots, tactical pens, safety lights, motion activated alarms, pool alarms, voice alert for home and driveway alarms, can safes, hidden cameras, bug detectors, dome cameras, dummy cameras, and many more. To apply for a dealer account and avail of Safety Technology's wholesale prices and drop ship services, one may fill out the application form found on the website. The company can also build a website for customers who do not have an established web presence yet. For other inquiries, the company can be contacted by phone, fax or email.
